U. N. Troops Smash to Within Three Miles of Kumsong And Deny Use of Base to Enemy

By The Associated Press
U. S. 8th Army Headquarters, Korea, Oct. 17.—Allied infantrymen drove to within rifle range of Kumsong on the central front today. Chinese defenders retreated slowly before the advancing U. S. 24th Division and the South Korean Sixth Division.
The Allies gained 1,500 to 2,000 yards in the fifth day of their drive toward the Reds' central Korean bastion.
The Reds were described officially as "slowly withdrawing."
Whether this was general along the entire 22-mile central sector remained to be seen. It was still possible for the Reds to make a stand south of Kumsong.
Allied infantrymen trapped a pocket of Chinese on the highest peak guarding the southern approach to Kumsong. First estimates placed the number of trapped Reds at about 800. But a briefing officer said slackening resistance as Americans and Colombian troops attacked the crests indicated the number may have dwindled.
The 24th Division moved 1,000 yards forward to close the last gap in the trap around the Reds. U. S. troops and Colombian infantrymen began the assault. Artillery covered them from newly captured flanking hills.
More than 40 hills have been captured in the five-day advance on Kumsong. Three United Nations divisions have advanced seven miles along a 22-mile front. Allied artillery moved up to strategic peaks where it could blast Kumsong, the main Communist bastion on the central front.
To the east, the republic of Korea (ROK) eighth division drove against 2,000 to 3,000-foot ridges in an effort to keep pace with the central push.

Administration Is Target for Attack In M'Arthur Speech

Miami, Fla., Oct. 17.—(P)—General Douglas MacArthur declared today "you cannot profitably negotiate with communists" and he called for the use of greater military power in the Korean war.
In a ringing attack on the administration's military policy, the ousted five-star general told the American Legion convention:
"We negotiate and negotiate and negotiate, never seeming to learn that you cannot profitably negotiate with communists any more than you can with any other type of malefactor in civilized society."
"The only persuasion that will move them is the resistance to their abusive pressure by adequate counter-pressure."
The general did not call for a break-off in the Kaesong truce talks, but he left it clear he puts no faith in them and would open all-out war against the Reds in the Far East as the best way to get an agreement.
There had been some speculation that MacArthur would mention the presidential candidacy of Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio. But the general made no mention of Taft or the coming presidential election although he assailed the Truman administration policies.
The whole tone of MacArthur's address was one of distrust of the (From Page Eighteen)

Battle for Control of Government In Philadelphia Highlights Election News

Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—(P)—Control of the Philadelphia city government, in Republican hands continuously since 1853, makes the Nov. 6 mayoralty battle—already interlarded with charges of graft and corruption—the biggest election topic in Pennsylvania.
Statewide there's no contest for office. Voters will ballot on two constitutional amendments, both concerning Philadelphia. They have the backing of Republican and Democratic leaders.
There are two special congressional elections—in the 8th and 14th districts—to fill vacancies caused by the recent deaths of two Republican U. S. representatives, Wilson D. Gillette and Albert C. Vaughn. These are in predominantly GOP areas.
Across the state many communities will elect mayors. Other towns will ballot on whether to permit Sunday movies, or allow the sale of liquor or beer.
For 17 times, every four years since 1853, the GOP has elected the mayor, of the Quaker City. Today leaders of both parties agree that 1951 presents the Democrats with their greatest opportunity to turn the Republicans out.
In the past few years special investigations by grand juries have indicted many persons in the Philadelphia city administration on charges of graft, embezzlement, accepting bribes, malfeasance of office, etc. Several others, including a top police official, committed suicide.
The present mayor, Bernard Samuel, is not the target though his administration and his Republican associates are being criticized by the Democrats. Samuel is not seeking re-election.
Philadelphians have this choice for mayor:
Democrat Joseph Sill Clark, Jr., 50, a lawyer, elected city controller by an overwhelming vote two years ago.
Republican Dr. Daniel A. Poling, choice of an independent GOP committee with the backing of the Republican city organization. Dr. Poling, 66, a former Baptist minister, is an editor and international Christian Endeavor leader. Behind Clark is City Treasurer Richardson Dilworth. He's running for district attorney on the Democratic ticket, and promises to clean up "the stink and the corruption in city hall once and for all because the Republicans will never, never do it."

Machinery Is Set Up to Discourage Gasoline Price Wars in Pennsylvania

Harrisburg, Oct. 17.—(P)—The commonwealth began setting up enforcement machinery today for a new law designed to discourage gasoline price wars in Pennsylvania.
Col. C. M. Wilhelm, state police commissioner, sent out directives to all troop headquarters advising them of the provisions of the new law.
It restricts the size of signs which gasoline stations may use to advertise their prices. A practice in the past by some station owners to use giant signs to advertise low prices is now prohibited. Instead, the largest size price sign now permitted on the premises is 12 inches by 12 inches. This restriction is intended to discourage attempts to undercut prices which incite gasoline price wars.
While Wilhelm disclosed that he is directing all state police officers to enforce the law, he emphasized that over-all enforcement is a responsibility of all peace officers.
"It is up to every peace officer to enforce this law," he declared. "This means not only the state police but local policemen as well."
The law provides a $100 fine or 30-day jail term for persons violating the sign size limit restrictions.
The state revenue department meanwhile disclosed that it has sent out mimeographed copies of the act to all gasoline distributors in Pennsylvania to acquaint them with its provisions.

NEW YW OFFICIAL—The board of directors of the Warren YWCA are happy to announce that Janet Cannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cannon, 24 Crescent Park, has been chosen as the new executive director of the association and will assume her duties November 1st. A graduate of Westminster College, with a degree in business administration and economics, Miss Cannon has also taken graduate work in advertising at Columbia University. Her most recent position has been as public relations director for Greenbrier College at Lewisburg, W. Va. Prior to that, she was employed in the advertising division for Sylvania Electric Products Company, Inc., in New York City.

U. S. to Support British Stand At Suez Acheson Says

Washington, Oct. 17.—(P)—Secretary of State Acheson said today the United States supports the stand of the British in upholding their position in the Suez Canal area against Egyptian pressure.
Acheson also told a news conference that the United States government regards as "without validity" the action of the Egyptian government in cancelling the 1936 Anglo-Egyptian defense treaty.
At the same time, the secretary appeared to Egypt to reconsider its quick rejection of the proposal by the big three western powers, and Turkey for the creation of a middle east command which would take over responsibility for defense of the canal zone and the strategic middle east.
The appeal was in a formal statement which said the U. S. "noted with surprise" that the proposals were rejected without the "careful and considered deliberation which they merited."
Acheson voiced his support of the stand taken by the British in response to questions from reporters.
He declined to say that the U. S. will support any action the British may take in defense of their position, but he said British troops are in the Canal Zone under a valid treaty which cannot be set aside by Egypt acting alone.
The British government is entirely within its rights in maintaining its position, he said.

DRIVER IS HELD UP

Pittsburgh, Oct. 17.—(P)—A chagrined taxi driver spent 20 bad minutes in the trunk of his car—locked in by a passenger who held him up. Driver Nicky Sivy for the Peoples Cab Co., said the fare produced a gun in Schenley Park last night and robbed him of $15. The gunman ordered Sivy into the trunk and slammed the door. Sivy freed himself by battering the door with his shoulder.

Meeting Discusses Technical Defense

Otto Mayer of Sheffield was in charge of a civil defense meeting held last night at the Warren County Court House Annex. Mr. Mayer is the division chief for the county technical defense and the purpose of the meeting was to coordinate the activities of the division.
Organizational planning and procedure was discussed and the possible cost for such equipment to make a well integrated division. The workers also discussed the requirements for setting up teams within civil defense and how to get the necessary personnel for mobile support units.
Members of the technical division present last night included Dr. Albert Eberly, Radiological Engineer; William Granquist, Chief of Detection; Charles Edwards, Chemical Engineer; Donald Dalrymple, Atom Bomb Division; C. C. Winans, Public Health; and Harry Schmidt, assistant director of civil defense.

LEADERS FACE BUDGET CRISIS ON TAX ISSUE

Washington, Oct. 17.—(P)—The stinging, unexpected rejection of a $5,732,000,000 tax increase by the house set the administration groping today for a solution to a potentially serious national budget problem.
Leaders' plans to adjourn congress Saturday until the new year were threatened by yesterday's surprise development.
The next move is up to the senate, which now can say whether or not there will be a tax increase this year. If it doesn't accede to the house request for a new conference to try to work out differences, there'll be no tax bill. That might—unless the tax hike finally approved were made retroactive—deplete the treasury of something like half a billion dollars a month in increased revenues.
In advance of a meeting of the senate finance committee there were strong indications another effort would be made to reach an agreement. The puzzle was: What

OPPOSE TAX BILL

Leon H. Gavin of Oil City and Carroll D. Kearns of Farrell, district members of the House of Representatives in Washington, both voted against the tax increase measure which was sent back to Senate-House conference by the lower chamber Tuesday.
The bill under preparation nearly nine months was tossed aside summarily by the house yesterday in a half-hour rollcall, with administration leaders hardly more astounded by the outcome than the group which put across the 203 to 157 coup.

On the winning side were 139 Republicans and 64 Democrats. The minority which supported the bill included 122 Democrats, 34 Republicans and one Independent.
The leaders were baffled by the factors which caused the upset. The volume of "no" votes swelled swiftly as the rollcall went along. Some of those who voted against the bill confessed later they hadn't anticipated the actual outcome.
Leading Democrats trying to analyze the vote speculated that a great many members simply oppose any tax increase at this time, and that others believe the boosts called for by the compromise bill were inequitable and poorly balanced.

Wallace Denounces Budenz Statements As "Slandorous"

Washington, Oct. 17.—(P)—Former Vice President Henry A. Wallace today denounced as "slandorous" and "nonsense" statements by ex-Communist Louis Budenz that Wallace made Communist-line recommendations after a 1944 mission to China.
"Far from following a line favorable to the Communists," Wallace declared, "my mission resulted in recommendations to the President which, if promptly followed, would have been most harmful to the Communist cause in China."

BOARD RECEIVES A SUPPLEMENTAL CALL
Melvin A. Keller, chairman of the Warren county Selective Service Board, announced today that a supplemental call has been received from Washington for induction into the Army October 30 of seven boys from the area. They will make the trip to the Erie induction center by Greyhound bus leaving the waiting room at seven o'clock a. m. This quota cleans up all boys 22 years or older, excepting the married men who will be reclassified.

Mutiny in West Virginia Prison Is Reported Subdued

Moundsville, W. Va., Oct. 17.—(P)—Rebellious convicts at West Virginia State Prison mutinied last night, but gunfire from guards atop the wall squelched daring attempts by prisoners to capture the prison power plant and commissary.

Duff "Dark Horse" Publisher Reports

Pittsburgh, Oct. 17.—(P)—U. S. Sen. James H. Duff (R.-Pa.) may be a darkhorse candidate for the GOP nomination for president, says newspaper and magazine publisher Gardner Cowles.
The contingency under which Duff might be nominated, said Cowles yesterday, is if the convention can agree on neither Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower or Sen. Robert A. Taft (R.-Ohio).

HALLOWEEN FRANKS

Warren borough police again spent a busy evening last night investigating complaints of Halloween vandalism. Included among the complaints were a rear car window broken in Crescent Park; boys throwing tomatoes at a house on Pennsylvania avenue, west, near Wetmore street; and children jumping on a porch.

Crew Fights Brush Fire at Hemlock

A fire-fighting crew from the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters was dispatched to the Hemlock district early this afternoon to extinguish a brush fire near the railroad bridge at Tuttlestown.
Both state and federal forestry officials also renewed their pleas for extreme caution with matches, cigarettes, cigar butts and rubbish fires near wooded areas.

The woods are still tinder-dry and the six state and three federal fire observation towers in the district are being manned until the present danger is eliminated.
"The few showers we've had," forestry officials said, "haven't helped much in cutting down the fire danger. What we need is two or three days of good soaking rain."

Affairs Sponsored by Service Clubs To Highlight Penn'a Week Doings Today

Gala affairs sponsored by service clubs today highlight the mid-way stage of Pennsylvania Week.
Two luncheon meetings and a dinner meeting were scheduled to honor Pennsylvania ambassadors. The ambassadors are Pennsylvania natives who have won fame elsewhere.
The New Kensington Chamber of Commerce and three local service clubs paid tribute to Pennsylvania Ambassadors Dr. B. F. Asher, president of the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Fla., at a luncheon; Ambassador Elmer H. Bobst, president of Warner-Hudnut, Inc., New York, is being similarly honored by the Lancaster Chamber of Commerce and Rotary Club.

Meanwhile the Greater Berwick Chamber of Commerce prepared for an ambassador dinner at which Dr. Frank C. Laubach, Hendersonville, N. C., a missionary-author, will be honor guest tonight.
The winner of the Pennsylvania Week quiz-essay contest for high school seniors also was to be named today. The decision was put off from yesterday when the judges, deluged with mail from entries, asked for more time to make their decisions.
On Friday, four National Safety Council awards for outstanding achievements in traffic safety will be received by Gov. John S. Fine in Harrisburg on behalf of the Commonwealth.

AID IS SENT FOR GARRISON FROM LONDON

Cairo, Egypt, Oct. 17.—(P)—Both Britain and Egypt rushed reinforcements to the 'riot-torn' Suez Canal area today as the British commander pledged his troops would stand fast against Egyptian efforts to drive them out.

In London the foreign office announced fresh troops are being sent to bolster the British garrison along the canal, where at least seven persons were killed and scores injured yesterday when British forces fired on rioting and looting Egyptians.

Egypt's Premier Mustapha El Nahas Pasha in a press statement urged his people to remain calm. The rioting, he said, "could stand in the way of our national aspirations."

A report from the Canal City of Ismailia said 200 Egyptian police were being dispatched by special train from Cairo to reinforce the 1,500 Egyptian police already there and that 300 others were being sent to Port Said. Yesterday's violence centered in these two cities.

An interior ministry communiqué issued here said seven persons were killed in the clashes at the two Canal cities. In Ismailia, Egyptian officials last night had reported 11 of their countrymen dead—seven there and four at Port Said. Other reports from Port Said put the death toll there at five.

A British Army communiqué today described the situation in the Canal area as "under control and all quiet." It said that "certain families in the Suez area have been evacuated to a safe place" but gave no details.

The Egyptian communiqué also said that "order reigns everywhere." Government officials at Ismailia described the situation there as "very bad." British forces, they said, now controlled all entrances to the Canal City, despite a request by Egyptian police that they withdraw and leave the policing to the Egyptians.

A British army spokesman in Ismailia said the British have agreed to pull their troops out of the Canal City when promised Egyptian police reinforcements arrive. So far, he added, the extra police have not shown up.
Britain's garrison along the canal at present is estimated at 40,000 men, with 400 planes.

Additional Prize Is Offered for the Best Pennsylvania Song

Because of the unusual amount of interest aroused among pupils of the lower elementary grades, the executive committee of the Warren County Federation of Women's Clubs has decided to offer an additional prize in its Pennsylvania song-writing contest.

Originally, the women's group announced a prize of $10 for the best Pennsylvania song written by an individual student in the upper grades. Now, however, the demand from the younger children has been so great it has been decided to offer another prize of $5, this amount to go to the room providing the winner.

Both contests are open to grade school children of the entire county, with November 1st set as the deadline for entries. Music supervisors of each school are taking the contest in charge.

Letters to the Editor

Warren, Pa., Oct. 17
Dear Mr. Editor:

I want to thank the Times-Mirror for your kindness and generosity in allowing me the use of your paper in calling the attention of the fire chief to this fire hazard. Last week I wrote to the City Service Co. explaining the situation and today I received a very nice letter from the Supt. of Operations saying he would soon be in Warren and would come to see me, nad would soon have all the buildings taken down.

Again thanking you I am sincerely yours

Underwood Rites Will be Held At Knox on Saturday

Services in memory of Roy R. Underwood, 64, nationally-known industrialist of Knox, who was instantly killed at 9:45 a. m. Tuesday in an automobile collision at Frill's Corners, Clarion county, will be conducted in the Knox Methodist church at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, with interment following in Perryville cemetery.

He is survived by his wife; a niece, Patricia who is a student at Cornell university; a nephew, George Underwood of Knox; one brother, C. R. Underwood of Jackson, Miss., and one sister, Mrs. W. S. Smathers of Clarion. Other nephews and nieces include: E. F. Underwood of Jackson, Jack H. Underwood of Jackson, Mrs. J. E. Herman of Knox, Mrs. L. H. Keller of Sheffield, Scott Smathers of Clarion and John Kennedy of Pittsburgh.

The body was taken to the John N. Boyer funeral home in Knox. Sheriff W. O. Mong, acting Clarion county coroner, issued a certificate of death from internal injuries and stated that no inquest will be held. The state police said that James F. Deemer of Reynoldsville, RD. will be charged with failure to yield the right-of-way to oncoming traffic.

Report on Survey of Invested Capital Committed for Industrial Expansion

Erie—Invested capital committed for industrial expansion in the 15-county area of Northwestern Pennsylvania is now well over $100,000,000, Eng. General Kenneth W. Momeyer, chairman of the Military Division for Northwestern Pennsylvania during Pennsylvania Week, October 15-21, 1951, said today.

Momeyer said the figure was supplied by the Northwestern Pennsylvania Council known as Norpac and was eloquent testimony to the growing importance of this area in the state and national defense effort.

"We should pause during this Pennsylvania Week observance to remember that defense is a two-edged sword, and that defense production, one of the edges, is needed to keep our fighting men, the other edge, at peak efficiency," Momeyer said.

Then he added, "As chairman of the Military Division for Northwestern Pennsylvania during this observance, I am pleased to report that we are doing our part to meet both obligations."
Retired commanding officer of the 112th Infantry Regiment, Pennsylvania National Guard, Momeyer paid tribute to the men of this regiment who are soon to be sent to Europe to augment General Dwight D. Eisenhower's army. "Northwestern Pennsylvania can be proud that it is sending such a fine fighting outfit off to Europe supplied, in part at least, with weapons and materials manufactured in their own home counties."

Momeyer then asked area residents to pledge themselves during the Pennsylvania Week to even greater defense efforts.

"Let's use the spirit that made our state great to the best advantage of our nation in this time of need," he added.
By working together, he said, Northwestern Pennsylvania can help the state hold first place in the nation in the national defense effort.

"It is interesting to note," he continued, "that while the greatest concentration of expansion for defense is in the three Middle Atlantic states, over two-thirds of this expansion is slated for Pennsylvania alone."
For Erie county residents, Momeyer had an even more interesting piece of information: "The impressive forward stride being taken in this area is reflected by the fact that 21 firms are investing $22,598,000 for plant expansion in Erie county alone."

Writer Finds Churchill Both a Liability and Asset to His Conservative Party

(Reiman Morin, AP special correspondent who has covered many political skirmishes in the United States, is in England to report on the British election campaign. Morin is a former chief of the AP's Washington bureau, and served during World War II and again in Korea as a war correspondent.)

BY REIMAN MORIN
London—(P)—Majestic old Winston Churchill, still the greatest single foe in British politics, a both a liability and an asset to his Conservative party's fight to overthrow the Socialist government in the national election next week.

Churchill himself, as an individual and a leader, is one of the "issues" in this campaign. There are people who are afraid of him, and will vote against the conservatives solely because he is the party leader. Vice versa, his name alone, as always, will be a magic lodestone for an army of voters, who might otherwise vote labor or liberal. In each case, British prestige in the world, along with the danger of war, is a motivating sentiment.

On the one hand, today, Britons will tell you, "there isn't a country in the world that respects us any more. If Winnie had been in, that couldn't have happened." The opposite attitude is this: "Churchill doesn't realize that we are no longer in the 19th century. He'd have had us in a war by this time."

Iran and Egypt have dramatized, and badly inflamed, these divergent views.

The loss of Iranian oil is bad enough. But the loss of prestige to thousands of average people, is even worse.

Originally, the Iranian case apparently hurt the labor campaign and helped the conservatives. But government spokesmen have been quick to claim that Iran, basically, represented a dreadful decision—peace or war.

They have asserted Britain could have held the Anglo-Iranian establishment only with troops. They reminded the people that Russia could have put her troops into Iran, under terms of a treaty. And they conclude that that would have meant the start of the third world war.

"Perhaps," they say, "Mr. Churchill would have been prepared to go to war over this. But would any mother with a son of army age agree to that?"

The conservatives say events in Iran could have been so handled that they never would have reached a point of crisis. They say the present government was guilty either of ignorance or negligence—both "criminal". And along with Iran, they now have Egypt as a talking-point to add to the tolling for the loss of former imperial holdings in the Far East.

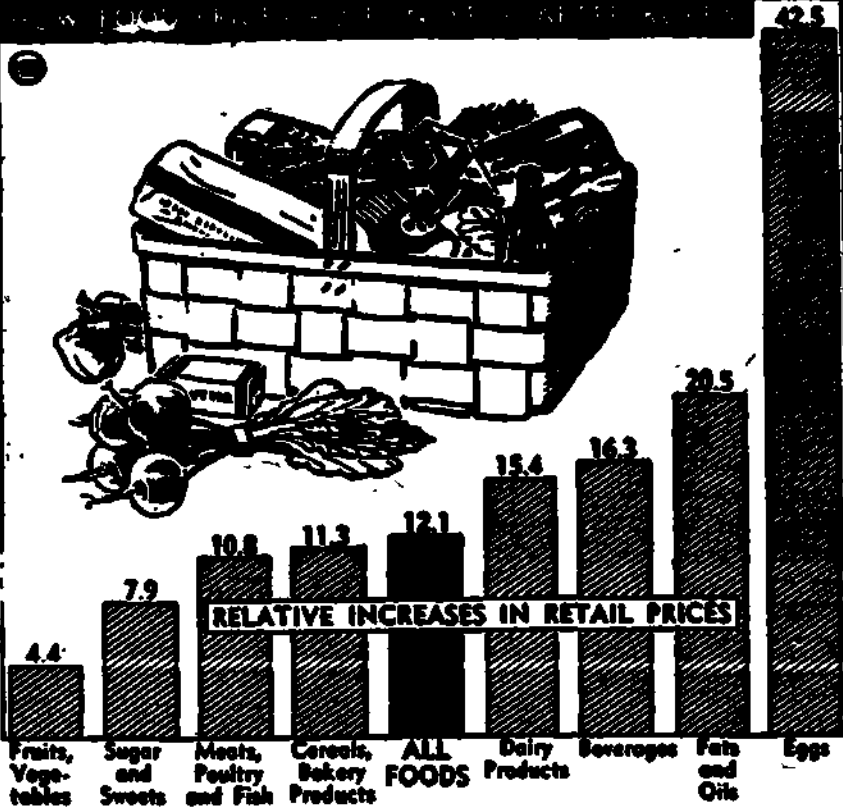

"Today," they say, "anybody can kick us around."

On a broader base, as well, both parties have presented to the voter what is, essentially, the issue of "Churchillism".

The labor party program warns that "the Tory reaction to crisis is force". They are acutely aware that the British people, like the people of most western nations, would go to almost any length to avoid another war.

Thus the effort is made to make "Churchill" synonymous with "war." Judging from the murmurs of agreement and conviction that usually follow this line of argument, the point has been struck home.

Churchill, hitting back, reminds the people that after World War II, "we were respected, honored and admired throughout the world." Retreat, humiliation and diminishing prestige are all the more bitter today, when they are contrasted with Britain's position

Rising food prices in 13 months after the Korean invasion added 12 per cent to the cost of feeding a family. The Newschart above, based on data from the National Industrial Conference Board and the Bureau of Labor Statistics, shows relative increases, from June, 1950, to July, 1951, in prices of various food groups. Eggs showed the most spectacular rise, of 42.5 per cent in 13 months; fruits and vegetables the least.

Cornplanter Indian Reservation Pupils Visit Irvinedale

Irvinedale school, starting off its Pennsylvania Week observance Tuesday after a day of vacation from classes, had the pleasure of entertaining Miss Lucia Browne and her pupils from the Cornplanter Indian school.

During an assembly program, Miss Brown gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the Cornplanter Grant, the school, the church and the community's activities, illustrating with color pictures of the Indians, the Cornplanter Monument, the school, and other nearby points.

She mentioned the first school erected on the grant in 1857, with Miss Julia Tome as its teacher; the story of Chief Cornplanter, termed the greatest of the Senecas; and explained the Cornplanter tract is the only Indian holding in the Commonwealth. The community church, the teacher explained, is right near the school and is a Presbyterian mission cared for by the Rev. Paul Miller, Bradford.

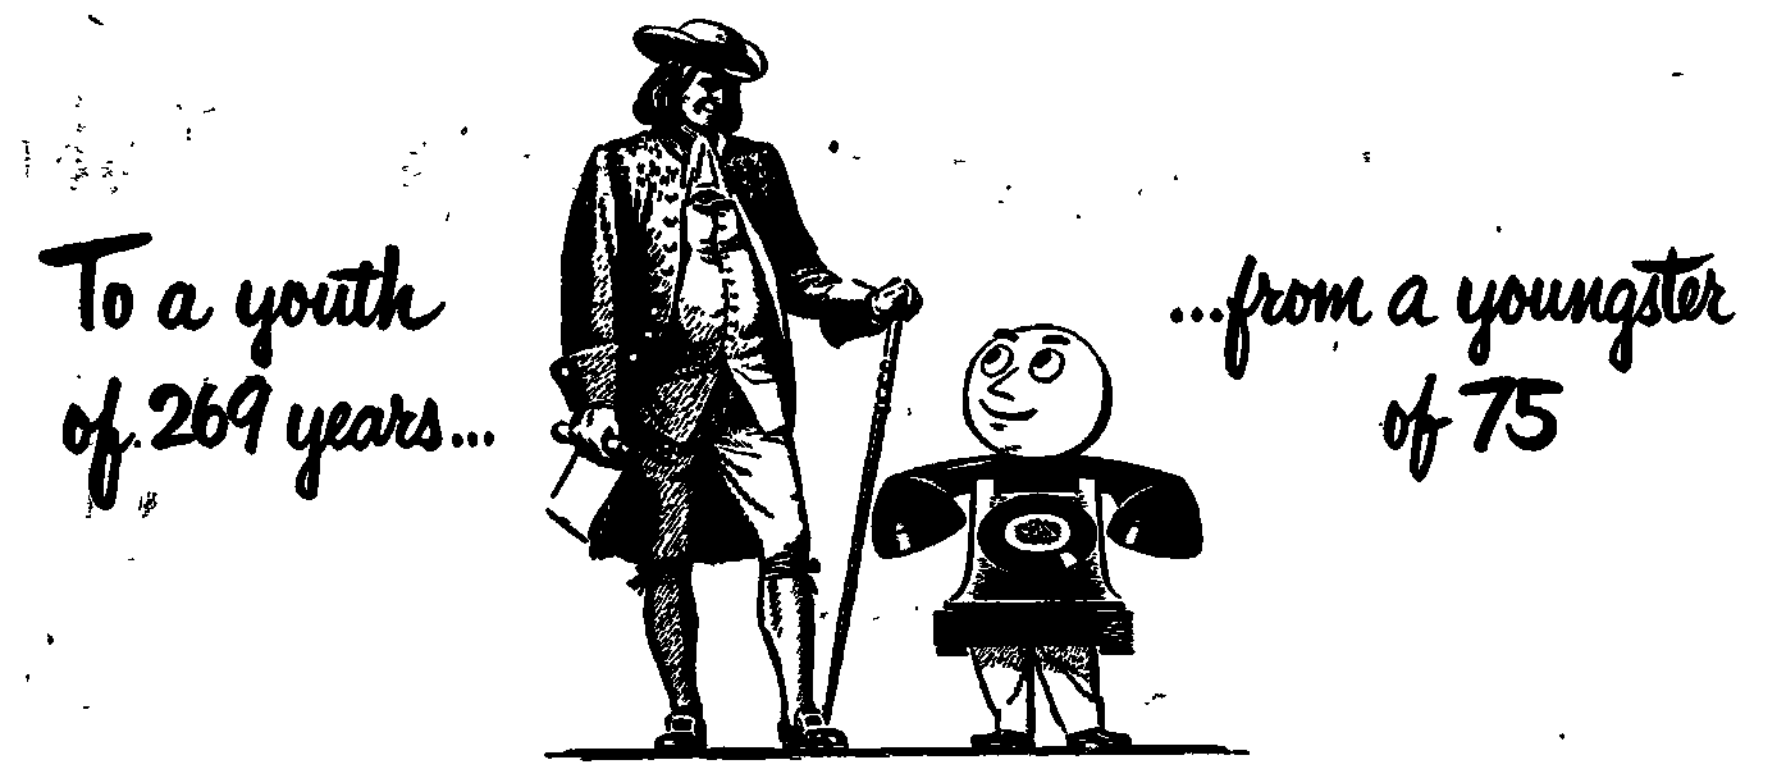

Miss Browne also described at length some of the Indian sports, including their baseball teams and the snow snake competitive games. Also given in detail was the menu for the dinner held on the 100th anniversary of the death of Cornplanter, when only Indian dishes were served.

The Cornplanter teacher and her students were brought to Irvinedale by the school nurse, Mrs. Dickerson, who spoke briefly on in the summer of 1945 — when labor came into government. People are badly divided on the question.

Piles—Get Relief Now

Millions of sufferers in the last 40 years have found a way to fast relief from itching smarting piles. They use a delightful cooling soothing astringent formula—Peterson's Ointment. No wonder one sufferer writes, "The itching and smarting were relieved, and I slept all night. Peterson's Ointment is marvelous." 40c / 70c, all drug stores. Be delighted or money back. (adv.)

To a youth of 269 years... ..from a youngster of 75

This week Bell Telephone pays its very special respects to the great state of PENNSYLVANIA

It was way back in 1682 that William Penn gave his name to the scenic and strategic territory now known as Pennsylvania.

That was 269 years ago! One might think that Pennsylvania would have grown old and feeble along about the age of 200. But not so. In population and in productive capacity, Pennsylvania has grown far more since its 200th birthday than it did before.

It is perhaps significant that this period of the state's greatest growth coincides very closely with the period that Bell Telephone has served Pennsylvania. And Bell's growth, like the state's, has accelerated with the passing years.

Since the end of the war, for example, we have added 1,106,000 telephones... nearly as many new telephones in the last six years as we had in the previous 69 years.

PENNSYLVANIA WEEK
October 15-21

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

We have inaugurated mobile radio telephone service, making prompt connections to passengers in speeding automobiles and trains.

We have vastly improved ship-to-shore telephone facilities.

We have taken a big part in the transmission of network television shows, as well as in improved facilities for broadcasting AM and FM radio programs.

And yet it is only the beginning.

As Pennsylvania continues to consolidate its position as a key state in defense production, there will be a rapidly accelerating demand for the best in communications service. We aim to supply it—we are determined to continue providing Pennsylvania citizens and Pennsylvania business with the world's best telephone service at the lowest practical cost.

Mentioning some of the individuals and groups recently visiting her school, Miss Browne extended a very cordial invitation to Irvinedale personnel to return the visit soon.

CORYDON

Corydon, Oct. 17—Mrs. Eva Nickerson, South Valley, N. Y., was hostess to members of the Foreign Missionary Society of the local church of the Nazarenes. There was a good attendance for the chicken dinner and the work period during the afternoon.

Mrs. Lida Wilcox entertained members of the Corydon Evening Club at a local restaurant. Following five hundred, refreshments were served. Awards were made for scores.

Sandra and Rebecca Caldwell observed their birthday anniversaries with a family dinner party. They were presented a birthday cake and received a number of gifts.

Local friends of Mrs. Mary Scott, East Randolph, were sorry to learn of her recent passing. During the past two summers she had frequently visited here, accompanied by her family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Learn, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Nelson and daughter, Oil City; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mack, Frewsburg; and Mrs. Grace Hale, of Lakewood, N. Y., have returned home after being the guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Learn.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Browne, Vincent, Ala., are visiting Corydon relatives and spending some time at their home in Niobe, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. John Erickson were Saturday visitors in Warren and Wardwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Elatt, Schenectady, N. Y., were callers at the home of Mrs. L. J. Archer.

THE TAX ON GAMBLING

According to Charles Barrett, writing for James Marlow in his column "The World Today" the nation's future numbers operators and betting book-makers are supposed to come out from cover in the next two weeks.

They are supposed to walk into Internal Revenue Bureau offices across the country and say, in effect: Sure, Bud, I run an illegal gambling business. Here are all the addresses where I operate, and here are the names of all the people who work for me.

Now if you will take my $50 and give me a federal tax stamp for gambling, I'll go back and post it conspicuously in my joint so everybody can see it.

You think somebody's dreaming?
"No, those are the provisions of the new tax increase bill now in its final stages. It's expected to become law and the gambling tax will go into effect Nov. 1.

The bill imposes a $50 occupational tax on all those who make a business of receiving bets on sports events or operating lotteries or numbers games.

This provision calls for the gamblers to register, get a tax stamp and post it.

Further, each gambling operator is supposed to report the amount of his monthly business and pay a 10 per cent tax on all bets placed with him. Thus, next month, if a bookie takes in $10,000 in horse race bets or a numbers writer sells $10,000 in numbers tickets, each would owe the government $1,000.

But nobody is kidding anybody. The Internal Revenue Bureau, which will administer the wagering tax, isn't expecting to be rushed by gamblers divulging all their secrets.

That brings up the main question—how to enforce a tax on operations that are illegal in every state except Nevada.

The new tax doesn't apply to parimutuel betting at race tracks, which is permitted by 18 states.

Experts in the treasury department and Internal Revenue Bureau have been huddling over this problem for days. They say it has more potential headaches than any new tax provision in years; they don't particularly like the idea but congress insisted. They are not ready to announce major decisions but here is their general policy:

Regulations will be issued shortly calling on all those covered by the law to register and get their tax stamps. Forms will be issued for providing the government all the information it wants and for turning in the monthly tax payments.

This formal material will read like a strange mixture of law books and gambling jargon.

Then the government will sit back and wait a short while.

PRAISE FOR CO. CIVIL DEFENSE

Harry F. Schmidt, assistant director of Civil Defense for Warren county, who returned this week from attending the U. S. Federal Defense Administration Staff College at Olney, Md., will be one of the speakers at the public meeting to be held at the court house, October 24th at eight p. m.

Mr. Schmidt in discussing Warren county's Civil Defense with the dean of the College was complimented on the way the county is set up and he recommended that people of the community continue in the same manner. He also said that Warren county Civil Defense is probably further along comparably speaking than any other county in the nation.

One of the highlights of the Pennsylvania Week observance locally will be the public meeting at the courthouse Thursday evening, and everyone should take advantage of the opportunity to hear a stirring address by an outstanding foe of Communism. It's your Pennsylvania; help make the local celebration a success by participating in the activities arranged.

The entire area sustains a distinct loss in the tragic death Tuesday morning in Clarion county of R. R. Underwood, president of the Knox Glass Associates. A host of friends in and around Warren share with the relatives and business associates the sorrow that comes to his family in the passing of a man whose activities have benefited in so many ways almost everyone with whom he came in contact.

Wear better clothes and you'll live longer, says a Minnesota doctor. Where—in the hoosegow?

"This Is Becoming, But ..."

Here And There

A letter received from Roy E. Moore, former member of the Warren police department and resident of Walnut street for many years, now living at 7438 E. Glendon Way, San Gabriel, Calif., provides interesting filler for part of this column today. It refers to a clipping taken from a paper of that place containing a story headed "Valley Lads Officer Who Killed 'Mars Man'", and says: "Dear Ed—You may be surprised to be hearing from me, but I could not resist sending to you the inclosed incident which happened the other evening about two blocks from where I live here in San Gabriel. Thinking perhaps you could run an article of the incident in the Warren Times-Mirror is my object of sending you the clipping. This fellow in question has for several weeks been holding up various markets here, and each time he has escaped with large sums of money. However, his recent attempt was this same market about three weeks ago. He came back again. This time a clerk (a girl) happened to see him enter the rear door of the loading platform and saying nothing she called the police, who in turn came without the usual sounding of their sirens. A policeman shot the fellow through the head at a distance of sixty feet with a service revolver. I might add that every one who was in the market at the time, he had lying on the floor. Also I might say this clipping is from the Post Advocate of Alhambra, Calif. I am feeling fine from my recent sickness and now employed since May first at the home office of the Security First National Bank in downtown Los Angeles and like my position very much as I am working in the chief teller's vault and handling plenty of that old stuff which is so much required in our daily life. I also work in the safety deposit vaults as custodian. Trusting that you may run in your paper something regarding the inclosed incident, and as I am planning a trip back east soon for a visit, I hope that I may look forward to a chat with you. Your friend, Roy E. Moore." (Note: Moore was a patrolman in Warren in 1924).

Going back fifty years ago, here's an item from the Evening Times of October 17, 1901, that will interest older members of the Royal Arcanum:

At Irvinedale Park on Saturday there occurred an outing that afforded a great deal of pleasure to those who were present, as all successful entertainments must.

It was the annual picnic of the Royal Arcanum for this district, which is composed of Warren, North Warren, Clarendon and Kane.

Considering the lateness of the season the crowd was large, the Clarendon lodge attending almost in a body, the excellent program and the new trolley line both having something to do with increasing the crowd from that place.

Grand Secretary Webster C. Weis was a magnet that members of the order found it hard to resist. Mr. Weis is one of the leaders in the great order, and it was on account of the ability to secure him that the picnic was postponed to so late a day.

The picnic was a basket affair, and was enjoyed by all. Picnics were invented for the purpose of providing a good time, and the one of Saturday was no exception.

The program of the day carried out in the Auditorium, Dr. J. C. Russell was chairman of the meeting and the address of the day was made by Grand Secretary Weis, whose remarks were able and eloquent.

A quartet composed of Misses Edna Wood, Marion Gerould, and Messrs. Blackrock and Shear played delightfully upon violins. Mrs. Josephine White recited, and the Warren Cornet Band rendered excellent music.

Next year it is proposed to have a "big time". It will be held in July and at the Park. An elaborate program will be prepared, and an effort made to show just what a prosperous and growing order is capable of in the way of entertainment. In the meantime the picnic of 1901 will remain a pleasant memory.

Little This 'n That: A state police officer, deputy sheriff and coroner had a wild goose chase last evening starting about eight o'clock when word was relayed to the borough police department that something happened up the Chapman dam road that might involve a murder or suicide, which resulted in the officers having a delightful ride on a beautiful moonlight night with some excitement that bordered on the humorous side—but no corpse. Franklin, well known to many older members of the Elks, when Warren Lodge was in the Northwest district was among the out-of-town members in attendance at the club dinner and meeting held last evening by the local Antlered Herd.

Had a visit from another of those interesting student groups when part of Grade 6 of the Johnson school, accompanied by their teacher, Miss Ellen Thoreson, came to the plant on a Pennsylvania Week tour Tuesday afternoon. The six Section II League teams will all be idle in loop competition this week, since all are scheduled for non-league contests. (Turn to Page Ten)

Interesting Penn'a Week Activities Are Being Promoted by Students at Johnson

Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania, strong and true, Pennsylvania, Pennsylvania, hear our song to you. There is beauty in your mountains, there is peace upon your hills, and wherever I roam, my only home is Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Mabel Bailey and Miss Margaret Corbin will try to bring a realization of the meaning of these words to the kindergarten and first-grade pupils in Johnson school when they take the boys and girls to visit the fire station during Pennsylvania Week. The students in the two grades have already memorized the words.

Johnson School has planned a variety of activities for Pennsylvania Week. The second grade will also visit the fire station and the police station, too. Miss Rosa Lee Sprague, second-grade teacher, is adding assignments of stories pertaining to the wild life of Pennsylvania, and discussions and observations will follow. A study of natural resources of the state is planned. In their art classes the pupils will make illustrations of things observed.

The third grade, taught by Miss Marie Gaghan, will draw a map of Pennsylvania. Each pupil will bring a post card of some place in Pennsylvania, and these names will be placed on the map with the important rivers. The children will have an opportunity to tell of their own experiences in various cities and recreational spots in the state. They will visit the Pennsylvania avenue bridge and observe the Conewango Creek, the Allegheny River, and the dam. Some of the history of these places will be explained. In conclusion the children will be taught how to spell Pennsylvania.

The state song will be the central theme of Miss Clementine Weaver's music classes. In addition her pupils will listen to records by famous composers.

Sixth-grade students with their instructor of reading, Miss Ellen Thoreson, are planning a trip to the Warren Times-Mirror. In their history classes, taught by Miss Edith Erickson, they will study the history of Warren and have group discussions on the industries of Warren.

Miss Erickson's fifth graders will talk about interesting and important places in the state. They will locate these on a map which they will draw in their art classes, taught by Miss Viola Flowers, principal of the school.

In her fourth-grade history classes Miss Erickson is having the pupils report on famous men important in Pennsylvania history, while the third graders will read about Pennsylvania.

Miss Frances O'Neill's pupils in English will have radio talks at the end of the week on "What I Have Learned About Pennsylvania During This Week." They will also be taught how to spell Pennsylvania.

In the nature study classes, under Miss Flowers, the children will report on the state flower, tree, and bird.

Concluding the week's observance Friday afternoon, Ralph Sires, chairman of the local Pennsylvania Week Committee, will display the state flag.

For the 49 pupils in the four grades at Seneca School the observance of Pennsylvania Week is bringing to light many new facts. Under the supervision of Miss Grace Bell and Mrs. Helen Gary, their teachers, the boys and girls will study the geography of Warren, its neighboring towns and cities, and those features which make this state and town a pleasant place in which to live. The HOSPITALIZED PREMIER—Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadeq rests in a wheelchair in one of six rooms he is occupying in a New York City hospital where he is undergoing medical tests prior to addressing the UN Security Council on the Anglo-Iranian oil problem. Although Britain has offered a watered-down version of its original demands, Mossadeq's deputy, Hossein Fatemi, says Iran will definitely not accept any council resolution telling them to negotiate.

children will then talk about their experiences while visiting points of interest throughout Pennsylvania.

In addition, they will be taught facts about the various products in the state with particular emphasis on local industry. To complete the study, the teachers will point out to them the cooperation between the state government and its people.

In Hawaii, when planters offered cash for all rat tails, to rid the country of the destructive rodents, the plan backfired. Natives were cutting the tails off, but freeing the live rats for future breeding stock.

College Goes to Cows . . .

Cows don't have to go to college in Pennsylvania—Penn State goes directly to farms in surveys to find cost of producing milk.

These surveys act as a guide to the Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission in determining how much farmers will receive for milk sold in fluid form.

Commission carefully scrutinizes dealers' financial statements to determine how much they shall get for receiving, pasteurizing, bottling and delivering your milk.

Result . . .

12.8c	goes to Pennsylvania farmers for each quart of bottled milk sold.
9.7c	goes to average Pennsylvania dealer for costs and profit allowance of 1/3c a quart.
22.5c	average price paid in Pennsylvania today for a quart of milk—a price as low as any in the eastern U. S.

Busy Weeks Are In Store for Jaycee Auxiliary Members

Mrs. Harry Schmidt conducted a very busy session of the Jaycee auxiliary at the YMCA Monday evening, with more than 25 members in attendance for a discussion of future activities.

Final plans were made for a joint meeting with the Jaycees, with the date set for November 19 at the YMCA and Dr. J. F. Crane is the speaker.

It was also announced the Auxiliary will sponsor a card party at 8:00 p. m. next Monday at the South Canteen.

A "Country Style" square dance has been planned by Jaycee and auxiliary members, with their guests, at 9:30 p. m. Friday, October 26, at the Town Barn, and the Auxiliary made plans for remembering a needy family with a Thanksgiving basket.

For the evening's program, Dr. Julius Fimo showed a film and gave a helpful talk on "Cancer in Women."

Concluding the evening, delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. LeRoy Schneek, assisted by Mrs. John Smith and Mrs. Robert Lewis. Decorations were done in the Halloween manner.

"GOOD HOUSEKEEPING" OPENS TOMORROW

Along about the first of next week there will appear in the Times-Mirror a review of the Warren Players' first fall production, "Good Housekeeping," which opens tomorrow night at the Woman's Club.

Following are a few things the critics have said about the play itself: "Play was a hit with audiences," Variety; "The diminutive Miss Hayes . . . was helped by the sparkle of Mr. McCleery's eyes . . . a good, clean American comedy," New York Times; "A pleasantly wholesome comedy, alive with good dialogue," Boston Traveler; "Without being unrealistic he (McCleery) writes warmly, cleverly, wisely about such a typical American family in 'Good Housekeeping,'" Washington Star; "Definitely good light entertainment," New Bedford, Mass., Standard-Times.

ALTAR SOCIETY TO ELECT OFFICERS

The regular meeting of St. Joseph's Altar Society will be held Thursday evening, with services in the church at 7:30, followed by the business meeting in the clubrooms. Officers for the coming year will be elected as the principal item of business to come before the group.

A social hour will follow, with Mrs. Rose Barone as chairman of the committee. Cards will be played and refreshments will be served. All members are cordially invited.

HADASSAH CHAPTER

The local chapter of Hadassah will hold an open meeting at eight o'clock this evening in the social room of Tiphereth Israel Synagogue, when the guest speaker will be Mrs. Sidney S. Hunter, regional president of Hadassah, from Pittsburgh.

ELLEN RAPP HAS PLANNED OPEN CHURCH

Miss Ellen Rapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Rapp, Lander, will observe open church Saturday, October 20, for her marriage to Belmer Hitchcock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hitchcock, also of that place. The ceremony will be performed at 2:30 p. m. in the Lander Methodist church.

EIGHT AND FORTY

Members of Warren County Salon, Eight and Forty, will meet at eight o'clock this evening in the local American Legion Home, with Warren women as the hostesses and Mrs. Medna Cannon as chaplain.

CEMETERY SOCIETY

Foster Cemetery Society members of Lander will be entertained at 2:00 p. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Robert Walter, Lander.

RITUAL PRACTICE

All officers of Warren Chapter, Women of the Moose, are reminded to be on hand for ritual practice scheduled at 7:00 sharp on Thursday evening.

MARRIED 40 YEARS—Mr. and Mrs. Gurney Ball, well known Youngville couple, pose for the "birdie" on the occasion of the open house given by their daughters, Mrs. Mervin Craft and Mrs. Robert Spencer, to mark their 40th wedding anniversary. The affair was given in the Craft home in College street, originally the home of Mrs. Ball's parents and the house in which they were married in 1911.

The serving table was covered with a ruby colored cloth and centered with a five-tier wedding cake which was served by Mrs. R. L. Detar, former Youngville resident now living in Danville. Mrs. Walter Aaron and Mrs. Merle See poured. Red roses and mums were used in attractive decorations of the home, with one special bouquet of 40 American Beauty rosebuds, the gift of Mrs. Ball's sister, Mrs. J. A. Nelson, Chicago, Ill. Other guests came from Warren, Titusville, Hydetown, Jeanette, Sharon, Oil City and Erie.

WILL REPRESENT YW AT BRADFORD

Four members of the Blue Triangle Club will represent the Warren YWCA at the Western Pennsylvania Employed Girls' Conference at Bradford this weekend. Mary Jane Schueltz, who is vice chairman of the conference, has helped with the program planning and the others, Evelyn Boyd, Kay Hibner, and Lois Huhns will have charge of recreation periods Saturday.

The conference theme is "There's a U and I in Security" and the keynote speaker is Mrs. Clement B. Yinger whose subject is "Building Your Cathedral." Sunday workshops groups are titled "Possibilities Unlimited."

Any other club members who wish to attend any of the conference sessions are asked to call the "Y" office at once so that reservations may be made.

No Job Is Unimportant If Seen From Human Angle

SHE has an important job—and she knows it. It is running an elevator. Maybe that doesn't sound so important to you.

But it is. For she works in a hospital. All day long she opens her elevator door to folk who are sick and hoping to be made well, to relatives who are distraught and worried about a patient.

She must sense at least part of the drama that touches her life each day. For she has a cheerful smile for those who enter the cage she runs up and down, up and down all day long.

If a distraught passenger gives a wrong number and corrects it apologetically there is no impatience shown. If she holds the elevator a moment for a hurrying passenger, she doesn't look annoyed or bored. She smiles.

For passengers whose faces have become familiar she has a pleasant good-morning. But for everyone she has a look that takes into account the fact that they are people—not just passengers.

IMPORTANT ENOUGH TO BE DONE CHEERFULLY

THERE are so many women working in so-called small jobs who don't realize how important their jobs actually are. And yet when a woman does realize that her job is important enough to be done cheerfully, what a difference it makes to those she serves.

It must make a difference to her, too, realizing that her job is important. For what more boring job could there be than taking people up and down, up and down all day long in an elevator if they were all just so many annoying passengers?

It must help a lot to see those passengers as people. And to treat them like people. And to those she treats like people she becomes a person, too. For she has discovered the one and only way to make a small job important.

Many County Entries For 'YW' Hobby Show

News of the YWCA Hobby Show has reached all sections of the county, for entries have been received from Sugar Grove, Spring Creek, Corry, Sheffield, Barnes, North Warren, Akeley, Starbrick, Cherry Grove, Tions, and Tidouste.

Displays will be arranged Thursday afternoon and evening with a few hobbies scheduled to arrive Friday morning.

The show will be open to the public at 2:00 o'clock Friday afternoon and remain open until 10 p. m. for the convenience of shoppers. Saturday's hours are from 1 to 5 p. m. when exhibits may be claimed by owners.

Judging will be done Friday afternoon, when ribbon awards will be placed.

A small admission will be charged to help defray expenses. Children are welcome but those under 12 must be accompanied by adults for there will again be many valuable articles on display.

The committee headed by Mrs. Howard VanOrsdale is enthusiastic over the large number and quality of entries received. They are especially pleased that James Deigan, whose miniature circus created so much interest last year, will again be on hand to entertain young and old with his fascinating hobby.

Mrs. Jessie Galley has returned to her home in Chippewa, Ontario, Canada, after spending the past week here visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gus Ztoupas, 300 Pennsylvania avenue, east.

Installation of the new slate will take place November 7.

The program for the evening was in observance of Pennsylvania Week, with poems by Mrs. Reiff, Mrs. Ramsey; talks by Mrs. Bishop and Mrs. Schweitzer.

Concluding the evening, the social committee served lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wakeley, Elmira, N. Y., are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stover, Pennsylvania avenue, west. Mrs. Wakeley will be remembered as Madame Janette, who formerly gave readings here.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

Meet the U. S. traveling girl.

Here is a brand new career in a national economy long dependent on the traveling man.

She's a new breed of Miss America, modern to her fingertips. She's brisk, capable, businesslike and well versed in the rules of travel.

Typical of this new clan are some 200 girls who travel thousands of miles annually producing and directing "home talent" shows supplied by the Empire Producing Company, Kansas City, Mo.

These "traveling girls" visit practically every community in the U. S. A. and put on shows sponsored by local civic groups, clubs or fraternal orders.

Since millions of Americans are on the move these days, traveling to and from college, jobs and new homes, some of the travel tips gleaned by these professional travelers should be useful.

With this in mind, a questionnaire recently was circulated among the group of 200 girl travelers, resulting in the following advice:

Q—What do you do with wolves?

A—Ignore them. Hire public porters to help with luggage rather than accept favors of eager males. Don't ask strangers for advice; ask police, bus, railroad and airplane employees. Report persistent pests to authorities.

Q—How do you control conversation with fellow travelers?

A—Keep it short. Keep it impersonal. Be aloof, but polite and businesslike. Don't reveal anxiety when traveling alone.

Q—What do you do when faced with a stopover?

A—Rest and relax as much as possible. Avoid park benches and public rooms that invite unwelcome strangers. Use a professional service for sightseeing. Use the time to write home or to office and to do necessary shopping. Never loiter or look "lost."

Q—How do you select a hotel or boarding house?

A—Ask for guidance at Travelers Aid Society or Chamber of Commerce. Look for nationally-known places in big cities—members of well-known chains or hotel associations.

Q—What kind of food do you eat when traveling?

A—Plain food, salads and sandwiches, meats and fish served with out elaborate sauce or trimming.

Q—What kind of luggage do you take?

A—Lightweight luggage—preferably one piece, so you can carry it yourself if porters are not available. One large bag is better than two small ones. A small hatbox or train case is invaluable for cosmetics and things to be used at moment's notice.

Q—What cosmetics do you use?

A—The kind that don't spoil. Creams rather than liquids. Cleansing cream, foundation, stick, powder and a purse-size jar of perfume.

Q—What kind of clothes do you wear?

A—Quick-drying nylon for underthings and blouses. Suits a simple dark dresses without pleats when on the move. Low-heeled shoes.

Q—What do you do for entertainment?

A—Read newspapers, magazines and books. See movies.

Q—If you need medical assistance, what do you do?

A—Call hotel physician or inquire at drug store, police department or hospital for name of local doctor.

The candidates, seated in the first row are, left to right, Milton C. Kay, Ronald E. Dodds, Carl L. Elmquist, Dr. Julius A. Fino, Kenneth W. Livingston, Robert L. Larson and Robert M. Wade. Second row, Ken Graham, inner guard; Ed M. Branch, Jr., loyal knight; Vere L. Smyers, DuBois, district deputy; L. M. Whiteshot, exalted ruler; J. G. MacDonald, leading knight; Ronald B. Frederick, iller. Top row, M. E. Jordan, organist; Frank Mason, lecturing knight; Ross L. Ruhlman, secretary; J. G. Gobliger, esquire; James G. Bohlender, Franklin, past state president; Richard Schumacher, chaplain. (McIntosh Studio).

The official visitation of Vere L. Smyers, district deputy grand exalted ruler for the North District and his staff, to Warren Lodge No.

Richard and Mrs. Floyd Nollinger. A large attendance of members is hoped for and friends are welcome.

RUTH BIBLE CLASS
Ruth Bible Class members of First Lutheran church will meet at 8:00 p. m. Thursday in the parish house, with an interesting program planned by the chairman.

NO FRIDAY DANCE
It is announced by James Hengst, Canteen program director, there will be no Friday night dance in The Spot, this week, but Deane Swanson and his orchestra will be featured for a Saturday night party from 8:30 to 11:30.

GARDEN CLUB
Pittsfield Garden Club members will have a tureen dinner at 6:30 this evening at the Anderson Sisters, Pittsfield, with Gilbert Sanford, Jr., relating some of his experiences as a Boy Scout delegate to the International Jamboree in Austria this summer.

223, B. P. O. Elks Tuesday evening was attended by the largest gathering that has been assembled there in many months. About 300 enjoyed the delicious turkey dinner at six o'clock prepared by the Lewis Caterers and served by the house committee under the direction of Myron Check.

Exalted Ruler L. M. Whiteshot presided at the business meeting at eight o'clock, when the impressive ritualistic work was exemplified by officers of Warren Lodge, for a class of seven candidates. Following the work the officers were highly complimented by the visiting deputy grand exalted ruler and other visiting officials.

During the evening a number of outstanding leaders in Elkdom were introduced, many of whom spoke briefly. Among these were James Bohlender, mayor of Franklin, a past president of the Pennsylvania Elks State Association. Mr. Bohlender spoke feelingly of the many pleasant visits he had here during the time that the late Earle V. MacDonald and Frank J. Lyons, both past exalted rulers of Warren Lodge, were active in the affairs of the Northwest District, before the local lodge was transferred to the North District. He commended John MacDonald, leading knight of Warren lodge, for the fine manner in which he is following in the footsteps of his father, who was active in the organization for many years before his death.

Among the past district deputies who were heard briefly were: Burt S. Burns, Reynoldsville Lodge No. 519 and William B. Forsythe, Kane Lodge No. 329; others called upon were Earl W. Dodds, a trustee of Franklin lodge who was present to see his son initiated into the order; L. M. McConnell, Sitka, Alaska Lodge No. 1662.

Other visitors introduced were: G. G. Griffiths, Leo Sheeley, Charles R. Cartwright, Floyd Ericson, L. R. Peterson, Leo S. Turner, Allen E. Peterson, E. R. Swick, William J. Burns, J. E. Nichiau, of Kane; Russell C. Parsons, Clarence Swarmer, Frank E. Sami, Arthur E. Kromer, of Punxsutawney; J. L. Gilliland, P. E. Finnefrock, J. V. Couch, Oil City; J. Dwight Conser, C. F. Burns, Reynoldsville; Carl DeVittorio, St. Marys; Floyd L. Rice, Pittsburgh; D. B. Kiel, DuBois; Burton Punskey, Sistersville, W. Va.; W. L. Foley, Daytona Beach, Fla.

Following the business session the remainder of the evening was enjoyed in games and watching television programs.

Pictures of Scarcities and Hardships For Farmers Painted by Federal Official

BY BILL LOFTUS
Harrisburg—(P)—Federal agricultural officials are painting a picture of scarcities and hardship for farmers during the next two years.
Whenever they get queries from farmers about the outlook regarding farm machinery or fertilizer, the officials assume a hang-dog expression and reply "it's going to be rough with plenty of grubbing to meet the basic requirements."
The labor and materials situation is just starting, according to their calculations. The speeded up pace of defense production is draining the vital labor and materials from farms and farm machinery.
As an example, the federal personnel expects an increase of 15 per cent in the demand for new farm machinery next year. Yes, the production of machinery which was just below the demand this year is scheduled to drop 20 per cent the last three months of this year.

In the fertilizer field, there is scheduled a 15 per cent boost in the demand for fertilizer. But there will be only five per cent more potash and the superphosphate supplies will actually fall lower.
There are plenty of these products available but they are also needed for defense production and weapons of war. Thus they are diverted from the agricultural field.
About the only concrete suggestion brought forth to solve the situation is that of a chemical company executive who asked the senate agriculture committee recently to boost the price of sulphur.
This is needed to make sulphuric acid, which in turn is used to make the superphosphate fertilizers.
Steel, which is the limiting fac-

Today's Business Mirror

BY SAM DAWSON
New York, Oct. 16—(P)—Fear that Europe may cheapen its money again soon is spreading.
When a country devalues its currency in terms of gold, (or in terms of a recognized standard like the American dollar) it destroys part of the value of every one's savings, or personal incomes, pensions, insurance policies. Devaluation does this officially, as inflation already has done it unofficially.
Fear that this is coming shortly after the British election next week has both the British and French jittery. Rumors spread that if the conservatives win in England they will set the pound sterling free to seek its own level—officially this wouldn't be devaluation, but its effect would be the same. What might happen is shown in this: Officially the pound is worth $2.80, but in Switzerland it is quoted at $2.32.
Inflation in France has the franc so shaky that the dollar buys 433 to 440 francs on the Paris black market, in contrast to the official 350 franc rate.
The price of gold in the "free" market in Paris has climbed $8 in three months to $48 an ounce. The official rate is $35 an ounce. Frightened French citizens will pay $48 in fear of inflation and devaluation. Rumor puts French devaluation, if it comes, at around 10 to 15 per cent.
Many Europeans are reported buying up commodities for the same fear that leads them to hoard gold. Some say this caused the recent fluctuation in the price of raw wool in the Australian auctions.
Europeans, who were afraid to hold onto their money, were turning it into wool.
To Americans, European devaluation would mean that exporters could get more pounds or francs for American goods. For a time

The Newsmag above spots 22 principal labor-market areas where there is either a shortage or a surplus of workers, according to Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson's third quarterly report to the President. Most of the 16 labor-surplus areas have resulted from failure of defense production requirements to balance out a long-range slackening of employment. Four of the labor-shortage areas—Hartford, Indianapolis, Wichita and San Diego—are sites of recently expanded aircraft plants. The Davenport-Rock Island-Moline shortage grows out of the expanded machine tool industry and an Army arsenal. The Aiken-Augusta shortage is caused by the tremendous new Savannah River Atomic Energy Project. Wilson's report declares that few, almost no, lags in defense production have occurred because of manpower shortages.

the price of goods made in Europe would be cheaper in terms of dollars, and therefore more competitive in the world market. But the devaluation of 1943 showed that shortly European prices rose again and wiped out any saving.
There are many causes for these jitters in Europe. Both France and England blame the burden of re-arming for upsetting their economies after their post-war problems had seemed almost solved.

Britain's loss of her Iranian oil properties and her growing troubles in the Middle East make her financial and trade ailments acute. The oil she got cheap in Iran is being replaced by costlier imports from other sources.

My friend B. J. Becker is, in my opinion, the most careful bridge player in the world. He combines great skill and shrewdness with his carefulness, and the combination is quite formidable. Since he will be playing in the Metropolitan Tournament in New York the last weekend of October, I can warn you right now: If you play against Becker, don't count on him to make too many careless mistakes.

Becker played the South cards of the hand shown today. It's quite an exercise in forethought and sheer technique.

West opened the ten of hearts, and Becker naturally took the was in position to return a low club for a ruff. And Becker carefully ruffed with the eight of spades.

Declarer next led a diamond to dummy's king and returned another low club. Continuing his plan, he ruffed with the nine of spades.

This left Becker in position to lead the four of spades through West. No matter what West played, dummy could win a finesse and draw the last trump. If South had carelessly ruffed a club with a low trump, he would have the eight or nine left at this point, and would win the third round of trumps in his own hand instead of in dummy.

After drawing trumps, Becker could cash the king of clubs and the established jack of clubs. The ace of diamonds then took the twelfth trick for a well-earned slam.

Warren Boy on Scott Air Base Eleven Benched by Leg Injury

X-rays being taken at Scott Air Force Base in Illinois will determine the extent of injuries received by Pfc. Donald J. Andersen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Andersen, Warren RD 2, while playing against the Scott Flyers eleven against Ft. Knox, Ky.

Young Andersen suffered a leg injury in the action, which ended in a one point victory for Knox, 13-12, and was the Flyers' first loss of the season. He will be out of action for at least two weeks, his parents have been informed, but so far as is known has not been hospitalized.

A graduate of Warren High in the Class of 1949, Andersen played football with the Warren High Reserves, was a member of both the high school and YMCA wrestling teams. Twenty years old, he stands six feet tall and

Coach Bob Voigts Has Own Theory on Big Gridiron Scores

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 17.—P.—Coach Bob Voigts of unbeaten Northwestern has an explanation for the free-scoring contests popping up everywhere on the college football front. It's this:

The two-platoon system, coupled with military inroads on personnel, has prompted many coaches to break in their rookies on defense where they have less to learn and use their old hands on offense.

So veteran players are scoring and novices can't stop 'em.

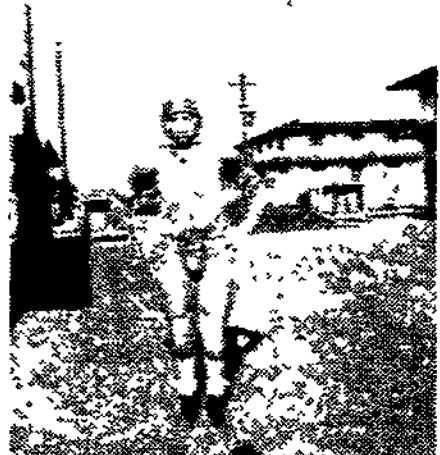

As far as his own surprising, if comparatively green Wildcats are concerned, Voigts has tried to keep seasoned performers at key defensive jobs.

The result is that Northwestern Saturday takes against Navy at Dyche Stadium a record of yielding only 35 points in three straight wins over Colorado, Army and Minnesota.

tips the scales at 200 pounds. He entered the Air Force on April 12, 1951, and had his basic training at Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls, Kans., before his transfer to Scott.

The Scott Flyers have been given a big play by press and radio sports writers since their season opened and have three 7-0 victories to their credit against Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.; Illinois University, and Memphis Naval AFB.

Commenting on their opening game, the Scott "Broadcaster" said of them: Defensively, the

DONALD ANDERSEN

Fliers were nothing less than sensational... The outstanding work of several players (including Andersen) was particularly brilliant... The entire team played defense ball as if it were their occupation... In beating Ft. Leonard Wood, the Scott eleven beat a team loaded with college football talent, all but two of that team having played college football and one of them an All-America choice from Dartmouth...

An additional statement from the same news sheet states that three of the Scott players are Pennsylvanians: Andersen, of Warren; one from Pittsburgh; one from Philadelphia.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

By The Associated Press

Baseball
Cincinnati—The Cincinnati Reds purchased pitchers Joe Nuxhall, Jim Curley and second baseman John Temple from their Tulsa Texas League farm and released pitcher Dave Jolly outright to the Oilers.

Cleveland—The Cleveland Indians trade outfielder Clarence Maddern to Seattle for catcher Joe Moulton, and obtained pitcher Lloyd Dickey from San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League.

Football
Philadelphia—Wayne Milner, former Notre Dame star, replaced Alvin (Bo) McMillin as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League for the remainder of the season. McMillin is recovering from an abdominal operation.

Racing
New York—Armageddon ($15-00) won the $25,000 six furlong campaign stakes at Belmont. Laurel, Md.—War Age ($5.00) won the six furlong Chevy Chase purse at Laurel.

In 1950 the railway passenger industry did $814 million worth of passenger business.

Columbia Sporting "Sub" Is Leading Undented Goal Line Passer in the NFL

New York, Oct. 17.—(AP)—Hard to believe though it is—especially when you take into consideration their pre-season prospects—Lou Little's Columbia Lions are the only major team in the country yet to be scored on.

No one, least of all Little, has any hopes of this state of things continuing past this Saturday when the Lions must face Penn. Little, in fact, will be very happy if his youngsters can beat the Quakers.

Columbia, which has permitted Yale and Harvard, its two shutout victims, to complete just 13 passes in 45 tries, will get a big break if Bones Adams, Penn's top pitcher does not play—and the chances of him seeing action are slim, indeed.

If he doesn't get in, the Lions will be able to concentrate their efforts on stopping Joe Varatits, a handy guy with a football tucked in his arm. Charlie Caldwell, Princeton coach whose Tigers beat Penn last week, called Varatits "murder." You hit him, but he still goes those extra few yards.

"This game will prove whether we have improved greatly over last year or just nominally," said Little today. "And just nominally will not beat Penn. I saw them get beaten by California, and I figured that all they have to do is improve their pass defense and put the heat on their running attack."

The National Geographic Society says the Australian dingoo is the most dog-like of wild canines.

Switch to DODGE "Job-Rated" TRUCKS

Bigger loads! Faster trips! Longer life!

Bigger Loads! Balanced Weight Distribution enables you to haul bigger payloads on a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck. Because the engine has been moved forward and front axle back, you carry more without overloading. Right proportion of the load is carried on each axle. And shorter wheelbase means easier handling.

Faster Trips! High-Compression Engine gives you plenty of power. Increased horsepower—in combination with the right transmission and rear axle ratio—means faster trips! Four-ring pistons with chrome-plated top ring and other outstanding values assure performance that saves time and dollars on your job.

Longer Life! Husky Chassis Units are one reason why a Dodge "Job-Rated" truck lasts and lasts. You get a rugged frame of hot-rolled, high-carbon steel. Springs are of special alloy steel—extra tough, yet resilient! Axle shafts are shot-peened for added durability. And every chassis unit is "Job-Rated" to fit your job!

gylol FLUID DRIVE available on 1/2-, 3/4-, and 1-ton models. This Dodge "exclusive" gives you smoother starts... easier handling... lower upkeep costs... longer truck life. Ask for a demonstration—today!

What a "Job-Rated" Truck Means to You

A "Job-Rated" truck is engineered at the factory to fit a specific job... provide the best in low-cost transportation, save money, last longer. Every unit that SUPPORTS the load—frame, axles, springs, wheels, tires and others—is engineered right to provide the strength and capacity needed. Every unit that MOVES the load—engine, clutch, transmission, propeller shaft, rear axle and others—is engineered right to meet a particular operating condition.

Ask any owner! He'll tell you that he hauls bigger loads at lower costs

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 17.—P.—Rice Institute, which has 1,000 students and a 70,000-seat stadium, offers proof that it isn't just a football factory in the fact that seven members of the squad are on the dean's list of superior students... But you know how much chiseling takes place in the fight racket... Pete Dorset, who never weighed much more than 150 pounds when he quarterbacked the Cornell University, was dropped into his own weight class as assistant coach of the Cornell 150-pound team... Pete is attending law school.

SHORTS AND SHELLS
It probably wasn't with intentional humor that Murray Goodman, the IBC tub-thumper, referred to Rocky Marciano as "a finely chiseled, static product."... But you know how much chiseling takes place in the fight racket... Pete Dorset, who never weighed much more than 150 pounds when he quarterbacked the Cornell University, was dropped into his own weight class as assistant coach of the Cornell 150-pound team... Pete is attending law school.

DOTS ALL, BROTHERS
New trophy for the U. of Bridgeport-Armold football series is the "coaches shoes."... Obviously this should go to the defeated team... Gerry McGinley, Penn linebacker, and Rick McGinley, defensive halfback on the same team, are sons of Ed McGinley, old-time Penn tackle who is vice-president of a big New York bank... Well, did you ever see a banker who didn't have a defensive attitude when you're looking dough?

SERIES ECHO
Al Cartwright, the Wilmington Del., sports scribe, reports of hearing this conversation between two other experts during the game of the World Series: "Hank Thompson leaves much to be desired in right field." "Yeah, about the only thing doesn't leave to be desired is a tung."

NEW EAGLES' COACH
Philadelphia, Oct. 17.—A Wayne Milner, who in 1935 gridiron glory for catching a pass from William Shakespeare—football player, of course—is Philadelphia Eagles' new coach. Milner became the head coach of the Eagles in 1948, a year when club president James Clark announced yesterday that Alvin (Bo) McMillin was tiring for at least the rest of season because of ill health.

Queen City Murder Case

By Wm. G. Bogart

Chapter 28

JOHNNY strolled from the large living room to the more intimate study, which faced on the side entrance porch of the big house. He wondered if Ralph Cronk would go out? He'd delay a while and see.

He came through the doorway of the study. Doris Wells was in there, seated on the divan with elderly Doctor Clark. The doctor's arm was around her shoulder in a fatherly manner, and Johnny could see that she had indeed been crying.

Doctor Clark rose swiftly to his feet. He said, "I say, Mr. Saxon, I was just going to come looking for you. How about a walk? It's a beautiful afternoon. Say a mile down the road and back?"

Johnny knew the doctor's quickly thought-out statement was a cover-up for Doris' tears.

Going out of the study, Doctor Clark called over his shoulder, "See you later, Doris."

The woman murmured something.

To Johnny, outside the room, Sam Clark added, "She has a rotten headache, poor child."

And that ended Johnny's opportunity to get anywhere near Ralph Cronk's room. The walk lasted two hours, and by the time they returned to the house every one else was also back. A light, early dinner was ready, and it seemed that everyone had suddenly decided to go into the city for the evening. It looked as if the night was going to be clear.

Johnny managed to get a second alone with Nancy before the general departure for town. She told him, "You really don't know what a helpmate your wife is, darling!"

"Why?"

"I think I managed things quite nicely for tonight."

"What do you mean?"

"I sold them the idea that it would be much more fun if we all went to the Club Mayfair, across the river!"

Johnny said, "Remind me to ask."

Doris gave him a quick look. Did she know that he had overheard part of the scene in the upstairs hallway?

"Gone completely!" she said with forced gaiety. She indicated silver ice buckets being set up by the two waiters. "Look, Joe's ordered champagne. Let's have fun!"

As the champagne was served, he raised his glass and touched hers. "Sure," he said lightly. "Let's!"

He could see the worry in her gray eyes. And now she was drinking too fast. She finished one cocktail and started immediately on another.

She said to him, "Come on, you're slow. Have another!"

"Why not?" agreed Johnny. He nodded to the waiter. "Leave one of the bottles right here," he told the fellow. If he had to, he would outdrink anyone here. And if he kept up with Doris Wells, he might get her talkative enough so that he could find out things.

Doctor Sam Clark came down to their end of the table. He put his arm around Doris' shoulder. "How are you feeling, my dear?" he wanted to know.

"Splendid, Sam," Doris answered quickly. "I'm all right now." For the moment, Johnny noticed, her face was quietly serious. He was just a little puzzled by the way she looked up at the doctor.

But when Sam Clark moved on, she touched Johnny's arm and said brightly, "Let's dance." She was a nice dancer. She still had a fairly good figure. The floor was jam-packed, and about all they did was dance in a corner and move their feet a little.

Above her head, Johnny's eyes searched the room. He had been thinking about the girl named Irma, whom they had seen last night. So far, she had not been out to do her dance routine. Johnny wondered if she were around. He made a mental note that he must see her. He decided he ought to do it before he had too much to drink.

Sales Event Will Celebrate Printz 65th Anniversary

One of the Tri-State's great sales events in which all of the eight Printz stores in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York are participating, starts tomorrow in observance of the 65th anniversary of the founding of the outstanding merchandising firm.

Printz's buyers have worked for many months in the New York and western markets, planning and evaluating the finest selections it has been possible to gather. Printz's New York buying office has worked hand in glove, even having some items made to extra high specifications so that every special represents unusual values. This great sales event is Printz's way of saying "Thank You" to the thousands of friends who for over three generations have made Printz's their store for men, boys and ladies. All merchandise is new and seasonable making this a different type of sale.

Founded in 1886 by Bert and A. A. Printz in Sharon, it has grown through the last 65 years to be one of the great business institutions in the tri-state area, with eight stores in Warren, Oil City, Franklin, Kane, Meadville, Warren, O., Youngstown, O., and Jamestown, N. Y. Printz's policy of giving quality, courtesy and service has been the great factor in making this group of stores such a success.

The management of the store is proud that it is one of a very few organizations in this country that is still operated and managed by one family for such a length of time. The president, Plumer Printz, who resides in Lakewood, N. Y., guides the company's destinies from the central office in Jamestown, while Fred Printz, vice president and advertising manager, has offices in Warren.

The Printz Company has advertised in the Warren Evening Mirror since it was founded fifty-one years ago. At that time, the ads were run on the front page, and the news was relegated to the inner pages of the paper.

ROBERT E. ENNIS

Robert E. Ennis, Stone Hill road, died at 4:15 p. m. Tuesday in Jamestown General Hospital, having been in ill health for the past year.

He was born in Warren on July 11, 1871, and had been a resident of this community all his life until he went to visit his son in Jamestown about two months ago. He was a member of St. Joseph's church and of the Warren Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Surviving are a son, William, of Jamestown; five sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Brenneisen, Mrs. Bertha Devine, Mrs. Frank Carroll, Miss Josephine and Miss Frances Ennis, all of Warren; also one granddaughter in Jamestown.

Removal has been made to the Templeton Funeral Home, where friends will be received at the usual calling hours starting at seven o'clock this evening and where the parish rosary will be recited at 8:00 p. m. Thursday. Services in his memory will be held at nine o'clock Friday morning at St. Joseph's, with interment following in St. Joseph's cemetery. (Jamestown papers please copy).

high peaks, north of the punch bowl in East Korea. The daily artillery duel in the Yoncheon sector continued, with U. N. guns firing ten rounds to every one by the Chinese. Allied big guns fired 19,000 rounds Wednesday.

U. S. Sabers jets paraded in MIG Alley for 25 minutes Wednesday morning in full view of Red jet bases at Antung, Manchuria. But Red jets did not challenge the Sabers pilots, who on Tuesday shot down nine Russian-type MIG 15s and damaged five.

The Wednesday morning fight of Sabers was flying cover for more than 150 U. N. fighter-bombers attacking North Korean railways. Seventeen Communist trains were attacked by night raiders in intensified round-the-clock smashes on rail lines.

administration's foreign and military policies. And while he never mentioned President Truman by name, there was no doubt he was referring to the president and next year's election when he said:

"I have faith that the wisdom and determination of the American people are not going to permit our country to continue down the road to national jeopardy."

Men in Service

Word comes from Haneda Air Base in Japan that Robert E. Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Lee, 100 Main street, North Warren, has been promoted to sergeant.

Lee is one of the airplane and engine mechanics who help to keep flying the airplanes which are operating in the Pacific Airlift from the United States to Japan in support of United Nations forces in Korea. Sgt. Lee, graduate of Warren High School, entered military service June 11, 1949, and arrived in Japan July 31, 1950.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a dear wife and mother, Jennie M. Atkins, who passed away October 17, 1950. Not dead to us who loved her, Not lost but gone before. She lives with us in memory, And will for evermore.

Murdered Prime Minister Is Buried In Hallowed Spot

Karachi, Pakistan, Oct. 17—(AP)—Pakistan buried her murdered prime minister, Liaquat Ali Khan, today, while a stunned nation grieved.

Sobbing, sorrowing thousands lined a route heavily guarded by troops as Liaquat's body was brought from his home to a hallowed cemetery to be placed beside that of the man he succeeded as this nation's chief, the revered Mohammed Ali Jinnah.

The leader of this four-year-old nation was shot to death yesterday at Rawalpindi in the Punjab, where he had just begun a speaking tour. The body was flown to Karachi early today and hurried funeral arrangements were made while the nation trembled at the prospect of violence in the wake of the assassin's act.

The crowd was orderly, obviously stunned. As the body was borne through the streets on a flower-decked artillery caisson, Pakistani officials announced for the first time that they identified Liaquat's slayer as an Afghanisthan national.

The fanatic killer, identified as Sher Akhtar, member of an organization which wanted a "holy war" with India, fired two bullets into Liaquat Ali's chest and head yesterday as the prime minister addressed a meeting at Rawalpindi, only 30 miles from disputed Kashmir state.

Team No. 6—E. T. Lundahl, captain, Andrew Nelson, Guy Edris, Frank Willard, James Torrance, C. S. Lemmon, J. D. Haggerty, Jr., and L. Schultze.

Team No. 7—Ken Carlson, captain, Louis Vizza, Willis Lundahl, Richard Munch, and John Newmaker. Workers in this division expect to get most of their chest material distributed this week yet, although the general campaign does not open until next Monday. This enables the stores and offices to start solicitation of pledges from their employees the first thing on Monday when the opening gun for the campaign is fired.

Wallace Denounces Statements as "Slandering"

(From Page One)

Wallace testified before the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. The room was packed, and would-be spectators, unable to squeeze their way in, crowded around the door outside.

It was before the same senate group that Budenz gave testimony that Wallace's recommendations followed the Communist line. Budenz is a former editor of the Communist newspaper, "Daily Worker." He renounced Communism several years ago and is now a professor of economics at Fordham University.

Wallace came before the senators with a prepared statement in which he lashed out at Budenz' testimony as "absurd" and "an affront to the dignity" of the senate.
